

Trail Voice Joining The Kojo Nnamdi Show to Talk Outdoor Volunteerism

WAMU 88.5 Radio Host Invites Ian Edlind, Trail Voice Founder, to be a guest on an outdoor volunteerism segment

Washington, DC - The Kojo Nnamdi Show has invited Ian Edlind, Trail Voice Founder and Editor, to be a featured guest for an upcoming radio segment highlighting outdoor volunteerism in the Washington DC area. Scheduled to join Ian on the show is Baltimore Sun writer, Candy Thomson; National Public Lands Day Director, Robb Hampton; and one or two additional soon-to-be-announced guests.

What: Radio segment on the Kojo Nnamdi Show

When: Thursday, September 24 from 12:00 - 1:00 PM

How to Listen: Listen live on WAMU 88.5 FM or online at <http://thekojonnamdishow.org/>. Past shows are archived and can be streamed or downloaded from The Kojo Nnamdi Show website.

This show will be the third installment of the "Wilderness in Washington" theme on the Kojo Nnamdi Show. The topic, outdoor volunteerism, was selected to coincide with National Public Lands Day, "the nation's largest hands-on volunteer effort to improve and enhance the public lands Americans enjoy" [source].

About Trail Voice

Trail Voice aims to build an active community of Washington DC area hiking, biking, and paddling enthusiasts who are passionate about giving back to the outdoors through service and stewardship. In a bi-weekly website release and email newsletter, Trail Voice profiles parks, trails, organizations, businesses, and events that inspire readers to enjoy the outdoors while embracing their responsibility to preserve and protect the natural environment. For more information on Trail Voice and to sign up for the email newsletter, visit us online at www.trailvoice.com.

Contacts

Ian Edlind
Founder and Editor
Phone: 215-850-6643
ian@trailvoice.com